About St Vincent's Foundation

Community support and generosity have been central to the story of St Vincent's since our beginnings as a small cottage hospital, established by the Sisters of Charity in Fitzroy in 1893.

St Vincent's Foundation connects patients, families and the community, raising awareness and support for the brilliant work of our clinicians, nurses and researchers.

The generous support of individuals, community groups, staff and businesses enables the funding of new equipment, infrastructure, research innovation, improved patient health care and the education of our next generation of medical staff.

"We love St Vincent's because they saved my mum's life. We will be forever grateful." - Anthony Mandarano, son of former St Vincent's patient
